

1. Policy:

Our service clubs lead middle school and elementary school children in remote areas to participate in service activities in their winter and summer vacation. Students implement the spirit of social contribution through service activities and give back to society.

- (I) Mountain Service Team: The members of the Mountain Service Team use the winter and summer vacations every year to go to elementary schools in remote mountainous areas of Taiwan to conduct service team activities. Service personnel use their own examples to guide students to establish correct learning concepts, life positivity, teamwork, and good interpersonal skills, with the hope that they will inherit the spirit of service as they grow up. These students will then be willing to learn, share, and give.
- (II) Rural Service Team: The Rural Service Team adheres to the principles of youth, cheerfulness, enthusiasm, and unrestrainedness. This Team demonstrates the perfect attitude and engages in activities to bring educational-entertainment camps and evening parties to rural primary schools and communities. Most important in the journey are the requirements for members. From the strict regulation of every word and deed to the rules and disciplines of daily life, we require members to be rigorous. Every day, a star official strictly manages members' time and status, and sloppiness is not allowed.

2. Achievements:

(I) Mountain Service Team :

The Mountain Service Team adheres to its spirit and enthusiasm for the word 'service'. During the winter and summer vacations every year, members go to elementary schools in the remote areas of Taiwan to organise service team activities. They use what they have learned at the National Changhua University of Education and clubs to give back to society in the hope of passing on the spirit of service to the children they serve. The seed of the spirit of service will germinate and strengthen in the children's hearts, and they in turn will continue passing on this spirit in the future as they grow up.

During the event, members teach participants to establish correct learning concepts, life positivity, teamwork, and good interpersonal skills through their own examples. They convey the spirit of the club's society—'Love of life and love of service'—to all students participating in the activity so that they better understand the diversity of learning and become willing to learn and give. The main activity is the 'Foster & Fun Camp', which is supplemented by different methods such as a home visit to Jingshan, the painted wall, and evening parties to enrich the meaning of the service. To achieve the above four activity themes, during the school period, we invite interested college students to experience the mountain with a one-day camp in a learn through participation approach.

(II) Rural Service Team :

The main activities of the rural service team in winter 2020 were originally scheduled to include recreational camps, campfire evenings, friendly evenings, and gala evenings. In the original plan of the nine-day team activity, the first few days comprised last-minute practices for the activities, rigorous disciplinary training, digging, and building campfire fields. The fourth night would have been a friendly evening party with drama, folk dances, and driving dances. The purpose was to bring vitality and enthusiasm to small communities where there are usually no large-scale fun activities, and to encourage students who live in colourful cities to have more intimate interactions with simple small towns.

The fifth to seventh days of the itinerary included the recreational camp, which is aimed at students of all grades in the Xipan branch. It was hoped the three-day activities would be both entertaining and educational. These activities aimed to bring joy to the students, as well as knowledge of class subjects and fine arts, and to improve their attitude towards life and other people. The second night of the recreational camp would have been a campfire evening, with the goal of using special performances and exciting fire dance performances to instil unforgettable memories in the school children. In the evening after the end of the camp, a gala was originally scheduled to invite school children and their families to have fun with us. With exaggerated makeup and performances, it would bring out the deepest memories of the local area and allow us to get closer to and better integrate into the place we would have served.

Unfortunately, because of the seriousness of the COVID-19 pandemic, these plans could not be put into action. As such, the practice and planning of an entire semester came to nothing. It is a big blow to the team members who are enthusiastic and who devoted their time and effort. It also brings an indelible regret to this issue of the Rural Service Team. The event was ultimately supplemented by a simulation activity at school.
